HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND Hoofland's German Tonic.

The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions disarranged. The liver, sympathizing so closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation, and inquiries possessed true merit, is skilfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefitted suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,

Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Severe, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tonic and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well established fact that fully one-half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail. Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes: Philadelphia, March 18, 1767.

"I find Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.

"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conviction of its virtues in various cases and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully, J. H. KENNARD, Eighth, below Coates St.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL, Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

DON'T GIVE UP.

In this world I've gained my knowledge,
And for it I've had to pay;
Though I never went to College,
Yet I've heard the poet say,
Life is like a mighty ocean,
Rolling on from day to day,
Men are vessels launched upon it,
Sometimes wrecked and cast away.
CHORUS.
So do the best for one another,
Making life a pleasant dream,
Help a worn and weary traveler,
Pulling hard against the stream.

Many a bright, good-hearted fellow,
Many a noble-minded man,
Finds himself in water shallow—
Then assist him if you can.
Some succeed in every turning,
Fortune favors every scheme;
Others, too, though more deserving,
Have to pull against the stream.

If the wind is in your favor
And you weather every squall,
Think of those, whose luckless labor
Never get fair winds at all—
Working hard, contented, willing,
Struggling through life's ocean wide,
Not a friend and not a shilling,
Pulling hard against the tide.

Don't give up to foolish sorrow,
Let it keep you in good cheer,
Brighter days may come to-morrow,
If you try and persevere.
Darkest nights will have a morning,
Though the sky be overcast,
Longest lanes will have a turning,
And the tide will turn at last.

A WOMAN'S LOT.

I school my face to act its part;
My heart I will not bare;
I would not have you read my soul
And see your image there.

Our ways in life may never meet—
Ah, me! it is a woman's lot
To bear the pain as best she may,
So that the world suspect it not.

Then do not deem us proud and cold,
We women need to act a part;
The coldest face, the proudest mien
Full often hides the warmest heart.

And if we seem too free and gay,
Like butterflies as light as air,
You curl your lips in lordly pride,
And say that we're as false as fair.

When first we love we seldom wed,
And oftentimes we feel too weak
To go our weary way alone;
And failing then of what we seek—

Despairing oft of what we would,
Our weary hearts and lives athirst,
We take our fate upon ourselves,
And drain the cup that's offered first.

Then blame us not if we're too cold,
Or yet too gay, or light as air;
Remember, ye who frown us down,
A woman's lot is hard to bear.

SPEECH OF Hon. John Scott, OF PENNSYLVANIA,

On the Tenure of Office Bill, delivered in the U. S. Senate, March 19, 1869.

Mr. President, I stated when I rose yesterday that I did not propose to discuss the constitutional questions which were involved in the passage of the tenure-of-office bill. I do propose, however, very briefly to state the three grounds that have been taken upon the question of the power to make removals from office, and then to look at the position in which the administration of this Government will be placed in view of the adoption of one of those grounds in the practice of the Government by the action of the Congress. The three grounds taken are: first, that the President has the absolute power of removal from office, independent of Congress or of the Senate; second, that this power of removal is vested in the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, independent of Congress; and third, that the subject of removals from office is within the power of Congress, and may be regulated by legislation.

I am aware of the broad field which these three propositions open up, but I will not enter it, as I have already stated. The discussions have already made the public mind so familiar with it that it is not necessary for the enlightenment of the people that those discussions should be reiterated here. But, sir, after these questions have been before the country since the organization of the Government, and after a crisis arose in the history of the Government which rendered it absolutely necessary for Congress to act upon the subject, the third theory which I have stated was adopted, and has been acted upon. How was it adopted? That third theory of the Constitution, that Congress has the power of legislation upon the subject of removals, is the very life and spirit of the tenure-of-office bill. The first section of the tenure-of-office bill is an explicit assertion that the President has not the power of removal from office where the incumbent has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The second section of the tenure-of-office bill, acting upon the denial of the power of the President in the first, grants him the power to suspend for enumerated causes, incapacity, crime, disqualification, or misconduct. All the remaining sections of the bill simply provide for contingencies and penalties.

That bill was passed after one of the most earnest and protracted discussions that ever took place in the history of this country over any constitutional question. It not only passed in the ordinary form of legislation, but after it had passed and after it had encountered the veto of the Executive, and after that veto had laid before the legislative branch of the Government every reason that could be urged against the legislative power to regulate removals, the power was again affirmed by more than a two-thirds vote in each House of Congress. After its enactment the House of Representatives, whose voice on this subject is now invoked in this Chamber to some extent, that House being nearest to the will of the people, again affirmed the power in presenting to this body as a court eleven articles of impeachment, eight of which were founded upon this very tenure-of-office act. Eight of these articles being founded upon that act, that trial progressed upon those articles, attracting the attention not only of this land, but of the civilized world. The vote of the Senate upon the trial of that impeachment was an affirmance by a very large majority of the doctrine that the President has not the right of removal from office under the Constitution. More than that, sir, after that impeachment trial, founded upon this tenure-of-office law, had closed, the two great parties of this country went before the people, the one distinctly affirming in its platform of principles that the legislation of Congress, including the tenure-of-office act and including the impeachment trial based upon it, was right, and the other attacking it as a usurpation of power, declaring that Congress was seeking to draw to itself the powers of all the other departments of Government. That man now at the head of the Government—and I am not going to stop here to eulogize him, but of whom I may say, without undertaking a eulogy, that thus far duplicity has never been developed as an element in his character—went before the country upon the doctrine announced in one of those party platforms, and after again the full discussion of this question, entering as an element into the judgment to be rendered by the people, we have the verdict of the people, if it is worth anything in discussing a constitutional question, that the power of Congress was properly exercised.

Now, sir, in view of all this, what is proposed? We have it first established that the Constitution does not vest in the President the power of removal from office, and we come into power proposing to obey the Constitution in letter and in spirit. If we are earnest in this, then we believe that outside of the tenure-of-office act, and of the other acts regulating the Departments which confer the power of removal, there is no authority vested in the President of the United States to remove an officer appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate during the recess of the Senate, and affirming that doctrine, the proposition now before us is, first, by the House bill to repeal the tenure-of-office act; and second, by the amendment of the Committee on the Judiciary to suspend the tenure-of-office act until the next session; and there is another amendment, the effect of which, as I did not hear it distinctly, I am not able to state.

Now I propose, as I have stated, to call attention to the condition in which we shall be placed by adopting either of these measures. Suppose we repeal the act, where then are we? We are before the country with the express declaration that the President has not the power of removal during the recess. We are then thrown back on the laws which have been passed permitting the President in certain instances to remove from office. Would they permit him to carry on the administration of the Government and remove unfaithful or disqualified officers if he should wish to exercise that power? They might upon one construction that has been contended for here and elsewhere, but they would only reach, even granting that view, certain enumerated officers in the Departments, and upon looking at one of the acts relied on for this purpose I find that even the question of whether the President has the power to remove under that act must give way when we look at the matter in all its aspects. I refer to the act of 1820, and I call attention to it at this time for the purpose of showing that even if there were acts of Congress regulating all the departments of this character, under their phraseology, the question would still be open as to who had the power to remove an officer. I read the first section of the act of the 15th of May, 1820, "to limit the term of office of certain officers therein named, and for other purposes."

"That from and after the passage of this act all district attorneys, collectors of customs, naval officers and surveyors of the customs, Navy agents, receivers of public moneys for lands, registers of the land offices, paymasters of the Army, the apothecary general and assistant apothecaries general, and the commissary general of purchases, to be appointed under the laws of the United States, shall be appointed for term of four years, but shall be removable from office at pleasure."

At whose pleasure? We get back to the very question that is started under the Constitution; and the very fact that the law of 1820 conferred the power on the President to remove, if it does confer it, is a strong proof that in the view of that law-maker he did not possess it without its being conferred by Congress; and in the attempt, if there was an attempt, to confer it the language is left so that if the case arose it would still be open to question in the courts whether the power of removal given by that act is given to the President, or is left to the President by and with the consent of the Senate. Take that one act as a sample, and upon the very doctrine on which we have gone to the country, upon the very doctrine on which the present Chief Magistrate of the United States has been elected, how could we say that if he found in office an obnoxious officer who was not provided for under any of these acts of Congress he might remove him? We have denied that power by this whole legislation, by all the action of the Government since it was sought to be exercised in such a manner as to require the action of the legislative department on the question.

There, sir, is where we should be left by the repeal of the law. Now, suppose we suspend it, as it is proposed to do here, how much better off are we? In one view of this question the tenure-of-office act is an unconstitutional restraint of power. In the other point of view it is an enlargement of the President's power, and confers upon him all the power that he has in connection with other acts of Congress to make removals. If we suspend the law, then, having adopted the ground that he has not the absolute power of removal, and that the only power he has is that which is conferred by law, then, from this until the next session, he can remove no officers except those that he would be authorized to remove by other laws upon the statute-book. And, sir, we cannot adopt this legislation on the ground that we wish to give the President the power to remove obnoxious officers. Instead of giving him the power to remove obnoxious officers the repeal of this law, or the suspension of it, is taking away from him the power to remove obnoxious officers.

The Senator from Indiana [Mr. Morton] was right when he said that there is no principle involved in the repeal of this law that is not involved in its suspension, and neither a repeal of the law nor a suspension of it will leave the present President to exercise the power of removal for the purpose for which the country wishes to see him have the power of removal. It will not do it, sir. We must go further; we must preserve the principle upon which this law has been founded, and I trust that it will be found in this Congress and in this Senate that when we have obtained a principle, and incorporated it into a law which works beneficially in the country, we will not surrender it for any mere temporary purpose. If the principle incorporated in the law of 1789, a principle almost as old as the law itself, that no man shall be a judge in his own case, was a good one, and so good that the Senate at least hesitated as to whether they would strike it from the statute-book at the request of the first man in the nation to put into office the richest man in the nation, I trust that they will adhere to the principle thus acted upon in the first days of the session and adhere to the principle that we have obtained and established in the passage of the tenure-of-office law.

What then, sir, should we do under the circumstance? We have affirmed the power of legislation over the question of removal, and the only point that is presented now is how shall that power be exercised. It was exercised before in view of the fact that a President in place claimed the power of removal and was exercising that power, as it was believed by the country, to take good men out of office and put bad ones in. The law then was passed—even if we say that in one aspect of it it was an enabling act—to restrain him from doing that mischief, from putting out good men and putting in bad ones. Now, sir, we are brought to a different state of affairs. We are not brought to surrender the principle, but we are brought to exercise the principle according to the circumstances in which we find ourselves. We have now in the presidential chair a man who, as I understand it, does not claim the power of removal, and a man who as we believe, if we confer it upon him, will exercise it only to remove bad men and put good ones in. If that be true, and we exercise our function by giving him power, we save the principle of the law; we do not say that we have been exercising this authority out of mere malevolence against the individual who happened to occupy the presidential chair; we say that we exercise it for the purpose of protecting and preserving the nation's life against bad men in office; and now we say that we will exercise the same power for the purpose of enabling a good President to turn out bad officers.

Then, sir, in my view we ought not to repeal the law; and if it were possible, if we had time to mature a better law, we ought not to suspend it; but we ought, if we do suspend the law, to accompany it with an addition to the present pending measure, giving to the President the power during the recess of the Senate to remove officers and to report the removals at the next session, requiring him to nominate for the places thus vacated within a limited time. In this way we exercise our power in accordance with the circumstances in which we find ourselves, not for a mere temporary purpose, because we preserve by this course the right and the authority again, whenever the emergency arises, to exercise it in another way if we find a bad man at the head of affairs. I would then prefer—and if I can do so in order at the proper time, unless it be offered by some more experienced Senator, I shall propose to add to this bill suspending the tenure-of-office act until the next session—an enactment that during the recess of the Senate the President shall have power to remove officers, and requiring him at the next session, within twenty days, to report the names of those removed, and make nominations to fill the vacancies.

If any gentleman starts the objection that that authorizes the creation of a vacancy in a recess, I answer it does not in this view of the constitutional power because it is the exercise of the authority of legislation for the purpose of enabling him to remove and fill the vacancy, and the officer appointed continues until the next session of the Senate. If then he sends in a nomination, and it is confirmed, there is no vacancy; if he sends in a nomination and it is rejected, there will be a vacancy, occurring not during the recess but during the session, and it can be provided for and filled at once.

This is my view of the legislation we should have on this subject. Let us, if you see proper, suspend the operation of the law until the next session, so that we shall then have time, if it be deemed proper, to complete the legislation necessary to carry out a system of this character, but do not repeal the law and throw our own President into a position where by exercising the necessary power of removal he will be striking down the principle incorporated in the tenure-of-office law, the principle contended for on this floor in the impeachment trial, and the principle upon which we put him into office by the voice of the people. Do not put him in that position. If we do, and if it be answered that he will exercise this power that was acquiesced in since the foundation of the Government till 1867, I would ask the Senators who voted to sustain this law on trial of the impeachment of a man who professed to have the power how we could in honor refrain from impeaching a President who would exercise a power which he declares that he does not believe he has?

I have heard during the progress of this discussion that legislation of this character would be reflecting on the President of the United States; that is to suspend this law would be reflecting on him. I do not think it would if we accompany it with the grant of the necessary power as I have suggested. I think, perhaps, it would if we did not accompany it with the necessary powers, but the restrictions in the law, if we think it necessary hereafter to enact them, are never a reflection on any man who intends to obey the law. As well might we come here and contend that the existing statute on the book imposing a penalty on members of Congress for being concerned in the prosecution of a claim against the Government was a reflection on members of Congress. It is not; but if unfortunately any member of Congress should bring himself within the provisions of the law, instead of the law being a reflection upon him, he would be an illustration of the wisdom of the law.

No, sir, it is no reflection, and this legislation will throw no obstacle in the way of the harmonious administration of the Government with a President who is disposed to do right, who is in sympathy with the majority in Congress. But having obtained this great principle through this struggle, shall we, upon any mere question of admiration for a man, or any mere desire to accommodate even his wishes in inaugurating his administration, be asked to surrender it in the legislation which we enact? I trust not. There are many blessings which have come to nations and peoples through their calamities. We need not go far back in history to show us that. The very oppression of our fathers brought freedom and the declaration of equal rights to a people who were not, at first, contending for them. The slaveholders' rebellion brought us freedom in the large sense of the word, and the ebb and flow of individuals and of States has brought us freedom in the larger sense of the word, so that now, through years of blood and anguish, we may say, as we have never said before, that we have a Government in which every man is free to choose the worship of God and free to resist the tyranny of man. That very obduracy is still getting on until every man, North and South, white and black, will be clothed not only with the right of citizenship before the law, but with every right necessary to protect the right of citizenship.

In addition we have this principle given to us now, a most valuable principle in the administration of this Government, which prevents the President from absorbing in his hands a power which, in the hands of a bad man, with the immense patronage that would be at his control in this government, would be the absolute control of all the offices. Shall we surrender it? I say no. Incorporate it in whatever legislation you may have, and that principle is of more importance to us or this country than any mere question of temporary convenience about men either getting into office or getting out of office. Let gentlemen pass their enloghums on the President in power if it is to their taste; that is not our business here. Much as I may admire him, I do not see proper in the discussion of this question to lose sight of a great principle even in the brilliancy of his fame. Pass your eulogies upon him, rear your marbles to him if you see proper, but never lose sight of this great principle, and preserve it, that in the long years yet to come it may influence for good the destinies of this country when your marbles shall have mingled with the dust they were reared to commemorate.

QUARRELING.—If anything in the world will make a man feel badly, except pinching his fingers in the crack of a door, it is unquestionably a quarrel. No man ever fails to think of himself after a quarrel. It degrades him in the eyes of others, and what is worse, blunts his sensibilities on the one hand, and increases the power of passion and irritability on the other. The truth is, the more peaceably and quietly we get on, the better for our neighbors. In nine cases out of ten the course is—if a man cheats you, cease to deal with him; if he is abusive, quit his company; if he slanders you, take care to live so that nobody will believe him. No matter who he is or how he misuses you, the best way is to let him alone, for there is nothing better than this cool, calm and quiet way of dealing with the wrongs we meet with.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Mch. 31, 1869.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } Editors.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

☞ We regret to learn that the wife of Senator McEntyre died at her home in New Bloomfield, Perry county, on Thursday last.

☞ But eighty-two miles of a gap yet remain between the approaching termini of the Central and Union Pacific Railroads. Only a month or two yet and a continuous rail will span the continent.

☞ Wesley J. Rose, Esq., having resigned the office of Collector of Internal Revenue for the Seventeenth District of Pennsylvania, Samuel J. Royer, Esq., was on Thursday nominated to the Senate as his successor. Both gentlemen are citizens of Johnstown.

☞ There remains in the United States Treasury between four and five millions of dollars due to discharged Union soldiers. The Ladies' Union Relief Association, of New York, has taken steps to secure legislation looking to the protection of those to whom bounties are due.

☞ Perhaps never in the history of our country has there been as heavy a pressure upon a President by office seekers as there is at this time upon President Grant, and we would not be surprised if he should be killed with kindness before six months. We have the consolation of knowing that we are not in the ring of "borers."

☞ Frauds.—In the year 1868, and mainly in the months of September and October, not less than eighty thousand certificates of naturalization were issued in the State of New York, whereof at least fifty thousand were fraudulent. Is it any wonder that New York cast her electoral vote for Seymour and Blair?

☞ The tender-hearted Sheriff of Oneida county, New York, administered chloroform to a condemned criminal, just before the execution. He has been indicted for it, on the ground "that the executed, by virtue of the chloroform, was preserved from pain, and that his sufferings were not according to the legal standard."

☞ Senator Morton, of Indiana, has accepted the invitation of the board of commissioners of the Gettysburg National Cemetery, to deliver the address on the first of July next, on the occasion of the dedication of the monument which will be completed by that time. An original poem will be delivered by Bayard Taylor, and the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will perform the duties of Chaplain.

☞ Nova Scotia has not been making idle threats to unite her destinies with the United States rather than submit to an odious and compulsory adhesion to the Canadian Dominion. A powerful sentiment is reported to exist in favor of annexation. If it were one of the beauties of monarchy to grant to her appanages the privileges of free expression of opinion, a vast majority of the people of that little province would declare for the scheme.

☞ Canals vs. Railroads.—When the Erie Canal was built it was designed for vessels of 60 tons. Since it has been enlarged for those of 260 tons; and the proposition now is to make it for ships of 1,000 tons, and then it would not meet the increasing demand for freight. Of the traffic with the west the Erie canal carries more than all the railroads from the St. Lawrence to the Potomac. A single canal boat will equal the tonnage of a freight train.

☞ On the 23d of March special elections were held in 46 counties in Indiana, for members of the Legislature, to fill vacancies caused by resignations to avoid the passage of the XVth Constitutional Amendment. In nearly every county the resigning members were renominated, and in all they were elected, only such as were certain of re-election having resigned. In very few counties was there any opposition in all the vote was very light, it being impossible to awaken interest over the issue.

☞ The Joint Committee of both Houses of the Legislature on the contested election case of M. Russell Thayer, Republican contestant of the seat of Thomas Greenbank, the Democratic sitting Judge of the District Court of Philadelphia, after two months of diligent, hard labor, on Tuesday of last week, decided in favor of Mr. Thayer. The most stupendous frauds were shown to have been perpetrated last fall. Mr. Greenbank was returned as elected by 125 votes, yet the Committee show that Mr. Thayer was elected by a legal majority of over seventeen hundred. Where is Coffee-pot Wallace? He can certainly give some light on the subject of frauds in Philadelphia. Glorious Wallace! one by one the fruits of his dishonest labor are fading away.

The Governor of Indiana has called a special session of the Legislature, to convene on April 8.

XVth Amendment.

The House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, at a late hour on Thursday night, ratified the fifteenth or suffrage amendment, by a strict party vote, 61 to 38, Mr. Morgan, Republican of Allegheny, absent or not voting. This makes fourteen states in all, that have thus far ratified the amendment. In order to become the law of the land, twenty-eight States are required to adopt it. We are not able to say at present whether that number will sustain the measure before next fall's election or not. The Rhode Island Republican Legislature has adjourned without taking action on the subject, while the Democratic House of Georgia passed the amendment and the Republican Senate refused to concur.

Presidential Declaration.—It may not be generally known that there is a copy of a document containing the signatures of thirteen Presidents, which is a testimony against ardent spirits. The declaration reads as follows:

"Being satisfied from observation and experience, as well as from medical testimony, that Ardent Spirits, as a drink, is not only needless but hurtful, and that the entire disuse of it would tend to promote the health, the virtue, and the happiness of the community, we hereby express our conviction, that should the citizens of the United States, and especially the young men, discontinue entirely the use of it, they would not only promote their own personal benefit, but the good of our country and the world."

The document is on parchment and has been presented to each succeeding President, and cheerfully signed, with the exception of President Harrison, he died before it was sent on.

☞ O. L. C. Hughes, Esq., (colored) late editor of the Freedman's Appeal, a monthly sheet published at Harrisburg, and devoted to the interests of the freedmen, announces in a prospectus before us that he has commenced the publication of a weekly newspaper, called the "Progress of Liberty." It is Republican in principles and is devoted to "Politics, Literature, Education, Art and general intelligence, and whatever tends to elevate the mind, advance the National progress of the community at large, and afford to the masses ample protection in the enjoyment of their rights." Mr. Hughes is said to be a man of ability and capable of making a good paper. We wish our colored knight of the quill and his hebdomadal all the success it deserves.

☞ President Grant has, as yet, made but few appointments, except in places where vacancies existed. He waits patiently for Congress to dispose of the Tenure-of-office bill. The Senate last week passed an amendment satisfactory to Grant, and sent it to the House for concurrence, but with the assistance of the Democrats, a minority of the Republicans refused to accept. The next thing to be done is to appoint a committee of conference. In his inaugural, President Grant said that he knew of "no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution," which method he is carrying out to the disgust of those who are after the spoils of office.

Senator Scott's Speech.—We direct the attention of the reader to the able speech of Senator Scott on the tenure of office bill, published on our outside. The speech speaks for itself. It will certainly be gratifying to the many friends of Mr. Scott to know that this speech has given him a place, at once, in the front rank of the Senate. During its delivery Senators crowded around him and listened with the most intense interest and upon taking his seat they grasped him warmly by the hand, and congratulated him upon his newly won laurels. They were taken by surprise with the logic and eloquence of our new Senator from Pennsylvania.

☞ The National Temperance Advocate is one of the best, most sound and practical exponents of the temperance cause that we receive amongst our exchanges. It is full of argument and thought, and contains news of the progress of the noble work from every State in the Union. It is a journal that should be on the center table of every family, where there are sons to redeem, daughters to save, or men and women ready and willing to fight the warfare of temperance. It is a monthly organ of the National Temperance Society and Publication House, published by J. N. Stearns, 172 William Street, New York. Terms, 1 copy for one year $1.00; Ten copies, $9.00; Twenty copies, $16.00.

An election held in the City of Memphis, Tenn., the other day, for School Commissioner and a Board of Education, resulted in a sweeping Republican triumph, the Republicans electing the Commissioner and three-fourths of the members of the Board of Education. The election passed off very quietly and with a light vote.

☞ Gov. Geary has issued a warrant for the execution, on Thursday, April 29th, of Lewis Lane, (colored,) convicted in Allegheny county for the murder of his wife.

The school property in this State is estimated at $11,000,000.

From Washington.

The Office-Seekers too much for the President's Health.

Washington, March 27, 1869.

General Grant is too unwell to-day to receive visitors. The continued pressure of office-seekers and their friends has partially broken him down. He is suffering from a severe attack of nervous headache, and last night was unable to rest.

In view of the injurious effects of the rush of callers upon the President, it is probable some means will be adopted whereby the number of persons admitted to see him will be less, and the delegation business and the general levees in the afternoon will be discontinued. Otherwise it is the opinion of Grant's physicians that his health will suffer to an extent which will render him incapable of attending to business. To-day neither Senators or members are admitted.

Neither house being in session to-day, the various departments are overrun by Senators, members, and their friends, fixing up, or trying to fix, appointments for various positions.

The Secretary of State has decided not to take up applications for Consular appointments, or even for foreign missions, until the chief offices at home have been disposed of. The pressure for the latter is so great upon the President, that he is anxious to get them out of the way first.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Commissioner of Internal Revenue are busy briefing applications for places in the internal revenue service. A large batch of removals of collectors, assessors, and minor offices have been agreed upon and many new names were sent over to the White House last evening.

The Repeal of the Tenure-of-Office Law continues to be the chief subject of conversation, and next to the removals and appointments absorbs the most attention of the politicians. It is not yet positively known what the Senate will do in view of the House's refusal to concur. The first movement will be made by the anti-repealers to insist upon the Senate bill and ask a conference committee from the House. A counter movement will be made by the repealers to recede from the Senate amendments to the House bill, which, if successful, will adopt the latter and secure the repeal of the law.

Both sides are busy at work to day mustering their strength, when the Senate caucus adopted the proposition which has just been defeated in the House. There was some hope that the House would recede. Now that it has refused to do so, many Republican Senators hold that they are no longer bound by the caucus, and they will go for the House bill. Among this class are such men as Morton, Sherman, Thayer, Sprague, Grimes, and others.

Old Bread.—A curious discovery was just made at Pompeii In a house in course of excavation an oven was found, closed with an iron door, on opening which a batch of eighty-one loaves, put in nearly eighteen hundred years ago, and now somewhat over done, was discovered; and even the large iron shovel with which they had been neatly laid in rows. The loaves were but slightly over baked by the lava heat, having been protected by a quantity of ashes covering the door. There is no baker's mark on the loaves; they are circular about nine inches in diameter, rather flat, and indented (evidently with the baker's elbow) in the centre, and are slightly raised at the sides, and divided by deep lines radiating from the centre into eight segments. They are now of a deep brown color, and hard, but very light. In the same shop were found 561 bronze and 52 silver coins. A mill, with a great quantity of corn in excellent preservation, has also been discovered.

Personal.—A thoughtless girl, living in a Western city, answered a "personal advertisement" in a city paper, just for the fun of the thing. The first note led to threatening, thus throwing herself into the hands of a scoundrel. Her father was surprised by the appearance of the villain at his store, who demanded fifteen hundred dollars for the four notes, and the father was forced to accede to his demands rather than have the notes, written "just for fun," shown to all his friends and relations. This should be a lesson to every girl in the land.—True Flag.

☞ An eccentric English lady, who imagined herself the destined bride of Christ, recently died, and the furniture of her residence, which was fitted up in accordance with her insane idea, is to be sold. In the drawing room is a large and costly arm-chair, the judgment seat. The room is divided by a curtain from the bridal bed chamber intended for our Lord. The bed alone cost £1,000, and the furniture of the two rooms not less in all than £25,000.

A dispatch from Portland, Me., dated March 20, says that Gen. Samuel Fessenden, the father of Senator Fessenden died at that place, aged eighty-five years. He was in younger days eminent as a lawyer, citizen and politician, and had been Grand Master of the Masonic Fraternity of Maine. He leaves a large family of descendants, many of whom are distinguished in the public service, Senator Fessenden being the oldest.

A movement is on foot to call an Irish National Convention of delegations from the Irish religious and benevolent societies in the United States, the object being to form a central bureau in New York, with auxiliary societies in all the States, for the purpose of furnishing aid and information to Irishmen in regard to the price of land, labor, etc, and to render any other assistance necessary to secure benefits to Irish emigrants.

Sixty-six vessels are now on their way to Great Britain from San Francisco, their cargoes aggregating 1,700,000 sacks of wheat. Also, eight vessels for domestic Atlantic ports, with 166,000 sacks of wheat, and ten vessels for Rio Janeiro, with 51,000 barrels of flour. California wheat and flour now afloat for China and other countries aggregates 2,300,000 sacks. The wheat is valued at $4,000,000.

A Book of general interest to all classes.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A BUSY LIFE.

By HORACE GREELEY.

In one elegant octavo volume of over 600 pages, well printed on tinted paper, and illustrated with an admirable portrait on steel of Mr. Greely, with pictures of his early residence, his farm, &c., &c., together with a beautiful portrait of Margaret Fuller, engraved by Linton.

Mr. Greeley has said of it: "I shall never write anything else half so much as I shall put up much of myself, my experiences, notions, convictions, and modes of thought, as these Recollections. I give, with small reserve, my mental history." The book embraces views of early New England settlement, the author's own youthful life, education, apprenticeship, adventures, professional and political connections, experience in Congress, newspaper life in New York, and much useful talk about farms and farming. It is a peculiarly entertaining and valuable work,—it took behind the scenes during an important period of the country's history.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

AND DESIRABLE!

BUSINESS STAND FOR SALE.

THE undersigned Executors of the Will of John McCahan, late of the borough of Huntingdon, dec'd., will offer, at public sale, at the Court House, in Huntingdon, at 10 o'clock, A. M., on Wednesday, the 21st day of April, 1869,

All that certain messuage and lot (or lots) of ground, on the south west corner of Hill and Montgomery streets, in the borough of Huntingdon, having thereon erected a large BRICK HOUSE—occupied as store room and dwelling by Josiah Cunningham—four offices in rear, stable, &c.

The above property will be offered as a whole, or separate, as may seem best to suit purchasers.

Business men, as well as others wishing to buy real estate, will bear in mind that this is the last, most valuable and desirable business stand in the borough of Huntingdon.

ALSO—Will be offered, at the same time and place, THREE TRACTS OF LAND, on Warriors Ridge, Porter township, adjoining lands of H. R. Bryan, Joseph Kone and others, containing about 370 acres, more or less, being surveys in the names of John Patton, Jacob Myers and Sarah Elliott—upon part of which a farm is cleared and a house and barn erected, now occupied by Samuel Moore. This land is well timbered, and will be sold in parcels to suit purchasers.

ALSO—Two tracts of unseated land, on the Warrior Ridge, adjoining each other, surveyed in the name of William Smith, D. D., adjoining land of Thomas Fisher and others, lying between the Pulpit Rocks and the Juniata river, containing two hundred and sixty-six acres, more or less, all in timber, which will be sold as a whole or in parts, to suit purchasers.

Conditions will be made known on day of sale.

The 1st of April is coming. Subscribers changing their place of residence will please let us know where they move to as well as where they move from. Now is also a good time to subscribe for the year.

The editor of the Standard is informed that if our stomach was only full of sourcrout, we wouldn't think of a crout-barrel in case of a fire on our premises. Better a crout-barrel than a beer-barrel, at all events.

The mail car on the Philadelphia Express going west on Wednesday morning the 17th, took fire a short distance above Mifflin, and only the Salt Lake city letters and a paper bag for Cincinnati were saved.

An old man named Mr. Carlin, residing in Summitville, Cambria county, tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. He was prevented by his wife. Wonder if all wives would do likewise.

The dead body of a collier named Arthur Mooney, was found in a field near Clearfield on the 11th inst. He was last seen on the 22d of February, very much under the influence of liquor. Forty-one dollars were found in his pocket.

Mr. Israel Black, aged about 65 years, residing in Antis township, Blair county, was found dead at the door of his stable on the evening of the 13th inst. It is supposed he died from an apoplectic stroke while putting his horse away.

As the house-cleaning season will soon be here, we copy the following recipe for cleaning carpets: Sprinkle the carpet with tea grounds, sweep well with a broom, then use soap and cold water to the greasy and dirty spots. This makes old carpets look new.

There is little colored boy in this town by the name of Harry Gantz who we learn knows half the New Testament, and he has been known to come home from church and repeat the sermon of the minister almost verbatim. He is as black as ebony.

A velocipede school is in town. We have had no ticket, but we understand it was as good as a circus to see the attempts made by amateur velocipedists to ride the two-wheeled hobbies. Our young friend Frank Isenberg is ahead in expertness as far as heard from.

A negro named Cambridge Adams is in the Chambersburg jail for brutally assaulting and violating the persons of three females —one a child of thirteen years. The fiend committed the outrages between the hours of 11:30 A. M. and 4:30 P. M. of the 19th inst.

Huntingdon had the H(itch) since the day of its birth and has it yet.—News. If this means the H in Huntingdon, it will answer so long as it was not Standing Stone; but if it is meant it has had the itch with an H, we think it's a little far-fetched as News from Mount Union.

We understand that a large engine house and council room will positively be built. This is right, and the gentlemen who have been "pushing" it will deserve well of the good citizens of the borough. Mr. David Black has been awarded the contract for the erection of the same for $2328.

Some thief invaded the cabbage-hole and hen-roost of the editor of the Johnstown Democrat the other night, and made way with his winter cabbage, nine laying hens and a rooster. A few nights previous the depredator punched out the eye and otherwise wounded his little dog. The editor comes to the conclusion that it is no more harm to shoot a prowling thief than it is to shoot a mad-dog.

To Soldiers and their Friends.

By direction of Post No. 33, Grand Army of the Republic, Huntingdon, Pa., the folowing announcement and requests are made to the friends and relatives of deceased soldiers.

At a stated meeting of the Post, held on the 15th day of March, it was Resolved, That the Post Commander be directed to obtain as completo a list as possible of the soldiers from this county, who are now deceased, with the companies and regiment to which they respectively belonged, the engagements or battles in which they were killed or the places where they died and where buried.

That the Post Commander be authorized to appoint a committee of any number he may be deem proper, of which he shall be chairman, and to take such measures as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of these resolutions.

In accordance therewith the Post Commander, Milton S. Lytle, has selected the following committee and each member will obtain lists from townships for which he is appointed:

M. M. Logan for Shirley, Cromwell, Clay, Springfield, Dublin and Tell.

W. K. Crites for Brady, Henderson, Union, Cass and Tod.

W. P. Rudolph for Hopewell, Carbon, Lincoln and Penn.

H. C. Weaver for Walker, Oneida, Barree and West.

W. F. Cunningham for Huntingdon, Jackson, Warriorsmark and Juniata.

G. L. S. Baker for Porter, Morris, and Franklin.

Residents of these townships and particularly the friends and relatives of deceased soldiers, are requested to send the information mentioned in the foregoing resolutions. Communications should be addressed to the member of the committee for the township in which the deceased soldier resided.—Partial or completo lists will be thankfully received.

These lists are desired for use on the occasion of the annual decration of soldiers' graves, which will take place during this spring or early in the summer.

Huntingdon, } M. M. LOGAN,
Mch. 29, '69-2t. } Adjutant.

Public Meeting.

A public meeting to elect delegates to a Railroad Convention at Saint Marys, Penn'a., May 12, A. D., 1869, will be held at the Court House in Huntingdon, Tuesday evening, April 12th, 1869, to which the public are generally invited.

Railway connection between the Pennsylvania & Philadelphia & Erie Railroads, is of great importance to the citizens of Huntingdon, and also to the people of Blair, Clearfield and Huntingdon counties.

The enlargement of the Pennsylvania canal to Huntingdon by April 71, creates the necessity for immediate action.

The Buffalo & Washington Railroad Company will be influenced in the selection of the point of intersection on the P. & E. R. R., by the action of the proposed Convention at St. Marys.

Two points are named Emporium and St. Marys, the last named is the most direct railroad route from Buffalo to Washington city via Huntingdon, hence the importance of sending delegates from the Juniata Valley to this 14th of May Convention.

If the people interested go to work in earnest, this cut off between the P., & P. & E. R. R., may be built simultaneously with the opening of Steamboat navigation to Huntingdon, two years hence.

Billiardistic Skill.

We have witnessed the playing of many scientific representatives of the cue, but we doubt whether any of them displayed more skill in making difficult shots than our young and rising friend "Billy" Poulton. It is true they may possess a superior ability in nursing the balls and making larger runs than he generally does, but as a "draw," and playing balls "around the table," besides executing all kinds of "fancy shots," we think he can compete successfully with any of them—Some of his plays are remarkable for their brilliancy. While he has attained to great proficiency in these respects, he is not deficient in manipulating (or "nursing") the "ivories." He has frequently made runs of two hundred, and some time since scored eighteen hundred before laying down his cue. To run out a game in one inning is pastime for him. On Saturday evening we saw him make a shot that would test the skill of a M'Devitt, a Foster, or a Carmo. He placed a chair about two feet high, on the centre of the table, put his cap on it with two balls and then made a carom on them from the table. We think "Billy" is entitled to a favorable notice in the sporting papers of the country.—Harrisburg Patriot.

☞It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however, vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X, Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness, and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction, accomplished the object for which they were used.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. tf

Local Legislation.

An act to incorporate the Juniata railroad company, to run from Hollidaysburg along the Raystown Branch of the Juniata. Passed finally.

A supplement to an act to prevent fishing with seines and to protect bass fish in the Raystown Branch of the Juniata river and its tributaries, and the Susquehanna river, in the county of Dauphin. Passed finally.

An act to authorize the sale of the Odd Fellows' hall, Birmingham, Huntingdon county. Passed finally.

An act to exempt the hall of the Odd Fellows' lodge in Coalmont, Hunting don county, from taxation. Passed finally.

Millinery and Dress Making.

Mrs. L. A. HAMER, will remove to the corner of Bath and Mullin Streets on the 1st of April and will be prepared to accommodate her friends and the public generally, with any kind of work in her line of business.

Also, gentlemen shirt making, to order. A share of patronage earnestly solicited.

BROAD TOP, March 26, 1869.

Dear Globe: At half-past eight o'clock on Wednesday morning the sons and daughters of the Green Isle of Erin gathered at the Roman Catholic Church at Broad Top to commemorate the death of their country's martyrs—Allan, Larkin and O'Brien, who died for the independence and liberty of their country and people, who are in exile all over the world.

After the services in the church were over the procession was formed at Mr. Y. L. Byrne's residence, which is the Fenian Headquarters in this place. The procession was headed by Grand Marshal Thomas Maher, Sr., next a great number of boys, in fine order, next the glorious Stars and Stripes, side by side with the green Flag of Erin, having on one side the resemblance of the harp, and on the other the appearance of the sunburst of Erin. This flag cost $100, and is fringed with silver lacing. Next came the musicians, after which followed a number of men, dressed in a long green scarf connected under the left arm with a white silk belt. On the scarf is a red, white and green rosette. The procession moved up through the main street of Barnestown toward Dudley, bearing the busts of the Fenian martyrs. The whole number of men and boys in line was about one hundred and fifty. It was witnessed by crowds of persons.

Threats are made to upset the recent election on the grounds that there was no public notice given, and also that the board of election received illegal votes.

We had seven inches of snow here on Wednesday morning last. BROAD TOP.

SHADE GAP, March 24, 1869.

Dear Globe: To-day Milnwood Academy closed her winter term of five months with the usual public examination, but not the usual exhibition, which latter we may not look for until the close of next term, ending about the first of July. The new arrangement which takes effect about the 7th of next month makes the sessions shorter, being only thirteen weeks in length, but having three sessions in the year, giving a good long vacation in mid summer, thereby enabling students who have the inclination, to try their hand swinging a grain cradle or mowing scythe, and assist their "parients" gather in the golden grain, and all that sort of thing.

This allusion brings to my mind the summer I took a notion to cut a "swath" in somebody's meadow and purchased a mowing scythe and all necessary fixings for fitting out a "first-class" mower, upon trust, (my credit being somewhat better then than now,) having a kind of a sneaking idea that in me were combined all necessary qualifications for a good mower. I mowed one day. That is, having lost sight of my leader about 3 P. M. of that day I concluded it was time to quit, and that I had missed my vocation. Upon being paid off I made a neat little mathematical calculation and found by the simple process of subtraction that I had not realized enough filthy lucre by my labors in the field to pay for my outfit. Ever since I have eschewed such manly exercise entirely.

But to return. On repairing to the Academy hall, hoping to pick up some lean items for your paper, I found the house crowded with the patrons, friends and students of old Milnwood, all attired in their holiday "rags." Finding myself in such an intelligent crowd I made for as secluded a nook as possible, thereby following the example of small potatons in a cart over a rough road.

The first thing in order was a piece of vocal music by the Model School, Miss Lizzie A——, teacher. Prof. Kuhn examined his class in Geography on the topic plan, giving each of the pupils a slip of paper upon which was written the name of a country which the pupil described, mentioning the boundaries, climate, resources, physical features, productions, animals, and the occupation of the inhabitants. By the interest manifested by the spectators during the recitation of this class, it was evident that they heartily approved of the method of examination,

A number of other exercises were gone through with, consisting of recitations by the Grammar, Arithmetic, Spelling and other classes, orations, essays, vocal and instrumental music, &c. The Principal made a short address to his scholars by way of a valedictory and the curtain fell. QUIS.

☞In the battle of life you take a chance at every step. When you commence business as a merchant, a shop keeper, a printer, a farmer, a mechanic, or any other business, including all professions, you take a chance to be successful. When you enter a railroad car to travel for pleasure or on business, you take a chance for your life. When you apply for an office or enter the field as a politician, you take a chance to be successful. There are many disappointments—"blanks,"—but all continue to take chances. The only chances ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS will offer after to-day, Wednesday, will be chances to get goods cheap, CHEAPER, CHEAPEST—and perhaps all who don't like our chance system will be better satisfied.

THE WASHINGTON HOUSE.

TO THE PUBLIC GENERALLY.

GEORGE LONG respectfully informs the public that he has leased the well known Washington Hotel in Huntingdon, lately occupied by A. Letterman, and is refitting it for the accommodation and comfort of all who will give him a call. He is determined to give satisfaction to all. A share of public patronage is solicited.

Huntingdon, March 30, 4t*.

Postmasters Nominated.

The following Postmasters were nominated for this county:

Coalmont—Thomas W. Estep, vice Samuel Brooks, removed.

Mt. Union—S. A. Appleby, vice S. A. Adams, removed.

Mapleton Depot—John Hamilton, vice John Shaffner, removed.

The Standard man noticing that Enterprise Headquarters sells "fat mackerel and bloaters" wants to know when the proprietors got to dealing in their own flesh and blood. We can answer by saying that he can have no fears on that account that his carcass will be accepted, as he belongs to the hog (Traugh) tribe.

☞What would have been the price and quality of Flour in town to-day had ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS not introduced a new article of the best manufacture? Something saved to the consumers—something considerable.

Norway or Spurrie Oats.

This great Oats is for sale by R. A. Laird, Alexandria. It goes 40 to 42 pounds to the bushel. It is a superior quality of oats. Samples of it can be seen at Fisher & Sons' and Houry & Co's Stores.

IMPORTANT TO CUSTOMERS
AND
THE PUBLIC GENERALLY.

On and after Thursday the 1st of April, the only inducements that will be offered at ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS will be goods as good as there is any in the borough or county at very low prices, which it is hoped will be less objectionable to many of our friends than the chance system, and quite satisfactory to all who wish to save money in the purchase of all kinds of goods kept on hand at ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS.

Every family, rich and poor, can buy a cow, and keep her in good condition during the year for the money that can be saved by buying Groceries, etc., etc., at Enterprise Headquarters.

ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS has saved to its customers hundreds of dollars, and the small profit system will be continued and every effort will be made to accommodate customers with the very best of everything in the Grocery line of business.

It is something to every man, more especially to a poor man who earns his dollars at hard work, to save a dollar or two every week, and he can do it and live better by making his purchases at ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS.

Huntingdon, March 29, 1869.

Carpet Store.

JAMES A. BROWN expects to open a carpet store in the large room of his building now occupied by the Young Men's Christian Association, about the 7th or 8th of April next. 1t

Changes.

O. E. M'Neil moves to Lester's New Building, and John H. Westbrook moves to the room now occupied by O. E M'Neil.

To the Afflicted.

Shoemaker's Star Magic Liniment, and McIntyre's Indian Compound, Dandelion Pills, and Worm Destroyer, for sale at Lewis' Book Store. tf.

☞The good times coming, come—and every man can get the worth of his money at ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS.

☞Were you to hear Talmage last night? If not, why weren't you?—You missed the best treat of the season.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is Better than a Pound of Cure."

This is the most sickly period of the year but there is a remedy which is a constant protection against the CAUSES of disease; it enters swiftly into the circulation of the blood, expels the morbific substance collected, therein during the winter; corrects all morbid disorders of the blood; regulates the supply and quality and equalizes the circulation of the blood; promotes the operations of the digestive organs; exerts a mild and efficacious stomachic; strengthens the nervous fibres and calms the nervous system; promotes buoyancy of spirits and feeling; revives the physical energies, and imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the human body. It is no less celebrated a preparation than MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. Use it now—use it regularly every day—and prepare your system for the change in the season, and fortify it against the dangers of disease. mar10dom.

Sewing Machines
ARE THE
Oldest Established of any in the World.
Over 50,000 Sold in 1868.

These unrivaled machines are adapted to every variety of sewing for family wear, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed. Over 50,000 of these unrivalled machines were manufactured and sold during the year 1868. This is unprecedented in the history of sewing machines, and is another proof of the great popularity of the Howe Machine.

They have invariably won the highest honors at the great Exhibitions of the world, culminating at the late Exposition Universelle at Paris, where

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them: those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and it's various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

McGUIRE'S
SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S
Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substance This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing—When thus used it at once relieves headach's.

McGUIRE'S
WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exorbitant claims, saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded. Dealers will bear this in mind. Sold by all respectable Druggists in the United States and Canadas. Address orders to
